

Help Wanted. Small, independent Seattle art school, established in 1991, is looking for a volunteer archivist to help us get started in collecting our documentary history. The Seattle Public Library has agreed to house our archives. We would like someone to help us get an overview of what documents and publications we need to collect, and to help us prepare a retention schedule for materials to be collected going forward. We would be happy for any level of assistance. Please contact gary@gageacademy.org if you are interested in helping us with this project.

Thanks!
