DESCRIPTION In 1983-1984 the Department of Family Medicine in the School of Medicine received a grant from the Kellogg Foundation for what became known as the Rural Hospitals Project (RHP). This was a demonstration project in which six selected small community hospitals in the WAMI states region received specialized assistance in policy and financial planning. A project director served, under the principal investigator, as program manager and community hospital liaison. In 1987 the position was upgraded to require health administration of the incumbent. A candidate (Robert Hughes) was recruited; these records are program files from 1983-1988 which he maintained. The RHP project director also reported to the Associate Dean for Regional Affairs in the Dean's Office of the School of Medicine. The latter office also oversaw the WAMI region Area Health Education Center (AHEC) program, a federally funded grant program designed to "develop programs which improve the supply, quality and distribution of health professionals" through subcontracts with nonprofit entities. RHP foundation funding ended in 1988. Its functions were to some degree assumed by the Community Health Services Development (CHSD) program, grand funded by the Northwest Area Foundation and others, including AHEC. The records consist of correspondence, project team meeting minutes, and subject files arranged alphabetically A-M. [Office of origin staff were unable to locate any additional subject files.]
